

Coastal Homeschool Athletic Association
UNITY- CHARACTER- HONOR

CHAA ACADEMIC ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS

In an effort to affirm and promote the Christian characteristics of perseverance, diligence, initiative, obedience, and wisdom in each of our CHAA student-athletes, each parent shall inform the appropriate coach or a board member of the student's failing or falling grades due to the negligence, laziness, or unresponsiveness of their student.

In return, the coach or board member will discern with the parent the best course of action as related to the particular sport in order to motivate the student toward performing their best and placing school work at the forefront of importance to athletics.

This responsibility lies solely with the parent of the student-athlete. No grades are to be submitted as this requirement is determined more upon the student's attitude than on a grade average.

I have read and agree to the CHAA Academic Guidelines. (Circle One) Yes No

Player Signature _____ Date: _____

Parent Signature _____ Date: _____

 Please note: if your child would like to play collegiate sports, the NCAA has certain academic requirements which home schooled students must meet.

This information is found at:

<http://www.ncaa.org/student-athletes/future/home-school-students> and

<http://www.ncaapublications.com/productdownloads/CBSA16.pdf>

There are more than 460,000 NCAA student-athletes, and fewer than two percent will go pro in their sport. For the rest, the experiences of college athletics and the life lessons they learn along the way will help them as they pursue careers in business, education, athletics administration, communications, law, medicine and many more fields. Education is a vital part of the college athletics experience, and student athletes treat it that way. (NCAA publications)